Nils Klöfver

guitar & alto guitar

Nils Klöfver is a prize-winning Swedish guitarist based in London. Active both as a solo performer and in ensembles, Nils is enjoying a busy freelance career with work ranging from recording film and TV scores to appearing in concert halls – stretching from London and around the UK to Japan.

Born in 1982, Nils started to learn the guitar at the Musikskolan music school in Borlänge at the age of seven. He continued his studies at the Music Conservatory in Falun in his early teens and finally moved to London in 2002 to begin his Bachelor of Music (Hons) degree.

Nils graduated from the Royal College of Music in 2006 with a first class degree. In the same year he also won first prize in the yearly Royal College of Music Guitar Competition, made his debut at the Wigmore Hall and appeared as a finalist in the distinguished Jörgen Rörby competition in Sweden.

Apart from the standard classical guitar Nils also plays the alto guitar – an eleven-string instrument merging together the best qualities from the renaissance lute with the modern guitar. The alto guitar is particularly suitable for early music and presents a new way of playing lute repertoire.
